the demands of the miners, like those of the iron, steel and glass men, appea to the general public to be moderate "fair day's pay for a fair day's work," which the miners ask is emi nently reasonable. In the best of time wages of these workers are low, and they have been reduced in the past year or two more than once. The pub lie is aware of this, and sympawith the miners in their sufferings No class of men felt the ill effects of the convulsion of 1893 earlier than the miners, or have been afflicted longer in any general revival of business which comes to the country they cer tainly deserve to share.

Bnt, like all other questions, this natter of the strikes has two sides, and to each eide the general public must give a hearing. The coal operators Carlara that under the present condition of trade they are nnable to grant the miners' demands. While wages have gone down they have not, the operators contend, gone down faster or farther than coal prices. Moreover, whenever prices went up, they say, wages gene fally advanced simultaneously. Like all other branches of business the coal trade was injuriously affected by the ancial disturbances which began four years ago, and some of the losses nec essarlly were shifted on to the miners. times of distress. Condition of Crops and Stock July 1st, 1897.

The report for July 1st is made up from replies received from 188 corre-spondents, representing 100 counties. Effects to obtain a report on condition of the wheat crop in the principal winter wheat growing states have been without axial, one estay, Ohio, furnishing the re-port. In this state the condition is 36

The wheat crop was harvested in good condition, although the weather was unfavorable for the work in some localitics. In quality the crop rasks as one of the best grown in the state. The yield is generally satisfactory, and many instances phenomenal. Where the soil was well prepared and seed sown. the results are very satisfactory. Where poor preparation of soil was made the sudden and severo freeze of November reduced the stand below the point where a heavy yield was possible. Some dam age in shock by rain is reported from Christian and Marshall counties. Dam-age by hall is reported from Harrison county. The acreage harvested, as compired with 1896, is 96 per cent, showing that entire acreage seeded was hervested. The estimated yield averages 12 bushels per acre. In 1896 the estimated yield was 6% bushels.

The corn crop, though still short of the usual growth at this period, has made malerial improvement during the month, material improvement during the month, and now presents a condition averaging 87, or an improvement of 5 points during June. A fair state of cultivation exists except in the counties of Henderson, Lawrence and Lewis, where the crop is reported as getting foul.

OATS.

The condition of the oat crop July 1st, as compared with an average year, is 80. On June 1st the condition was 82, and the falling off is attributed to the dry weather during the early part of June, which allowed the growth of weeda to overrun and interfere with the growth of annual sermon here Friday night.
